

Communication Studies-York International Exchange Award

The Department of Communication Studies York International Exchange Award ($500 annually) is given to a Communication Studies major who has successfully completed a York University International Exchange and is currently completing their Honours degree, who has a high overall gpa, and who can demonstrate financial need.

In order to be considered students need to submit a short description of their exchange (which could be in the form of a letter or a video) outlining the value of their experience; they also need to agree to publicize their exchange on the department's web site in order to further other students' exchanges.

Applications must be submitted to the Undergraduate Program Director by Wednesday, October 30th, 2019.*

In addition, applicants must complete the Student Financial Profile available online at
